

MARRIED TWO YEARS AGO.

Groom Claims His Bride After Graduating at Mercer.

MACON, April 18.—In March, 1899, two years ago, Miss Mary Rosser, daughter of J. M. Rosser of the Central railroad, was secretly married to J. C. Bryan, a Mercer student. The affair was kept secret until recently. The marriage was solemnized at the residence of Rev. W. A. Boyd. Mrs. Boyd and L. S. Barrett, a classmate of the groom, witnessed it. It was kept a secret because Mr. Bryan wished to complete his course at Mercer before it was found out. Mr. Bryan has claimed his bride and the couple left last evening for their future home in Marshallville.

The Buffalo is to make a two months' cruise of northern European waters, the course taking in the Baltic along the Scandinavian coast. A stop for orders will be made at Gibraltar. This trip is held by navy men to be the finest in the cruising line.

He Fooled the Surgeons.

All doctors told Renick Hamilton, of West Jefferson, O., after suffering 18 months from Rectal Fistula, he would die unless a costly operation was performed; but he cured himself with five boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the surest Pile cure on Earth, and the best Salve in the World. 28 cents a box. Sold by W. A. D'Alemberte, Druggist.

Bishop J. S. Key wrote: TEETH-INA (Teething Powder) was more satisfactory than anything we ever used.

THOUGHTS.

Some of Which Are Very Wise.

While Some Are Not So Wise.

Slang is queer in spots. When they say a man is "in the soup," they mean he is "out of it."

The fellow whom you think wears his hair too long is quite as sure you wear yours too short.

Men have missed their opportunities more often than opportunities have missed them.

Poor Adam! He had no rich uncle. Happy Adam! He had no mother-in-law.

Try to make society what you would have it had you daughters just entered it.

Though a woman be homely or handsome, modesty is her greatest charm.

It is good to know we cannot give happiness without receiving it.

The question of the hour, "What time is it?"—Editor's Magazine.

Not Allowed to Escape.

"Professor, are you ready?" asked his friend, opening the door of his study and putting his head inside the room.

"Ready?" echoed the absentminded man at the desk. "Ready for what?"

"Your wedding, of course! Have you forgotten you are to be married at 8 o'clock this evening?"

"I know," muttered the professor, struggling with his reverie and looking in the pigeonholes before him for his hat and overcoat; "I knew I had an engagement of some kind for 8 o'clock. I'll be ready in a moment."—Chicago Tribune.

The Boy Was Benefited.

"The other afternoon," said the man in the box office of a theater, "a boy came to me and said, 'Are these any good?' and I took from him two front row seats for that night which had been torn into a hundred pieces or so and then cleverly pasted together again. 'Oh, yes, my child. But how did this strange accident happen to the tickets?'"

"The boy replied: 'Why, papa came home with them last night and showed them to mamma, and he seemed to be in such good humor somehow that mamma thought it would be a good time then to tell him how she owed them over $100 for provisions. She told him of it, but he got so mad that he said that every night now he wouldn't come home till after 12 o'clock, and he told me for heaven's sake when I got married to look out for a sensible woman. All the time mamma laughed, and he was getting madder, and so he said she wouldn't go to the theater with him after that, and he tore the tickets up and rushed out somewhere alone. He ain't back yet either, but mamma don't care. I picked up the pieces off the carpet and pasted them together, and if you'll exchange the tickets for matinee ones I guess I'll come down on Saturday with some other fellow and take in the show.'"

"I gave other tickets to the candid kid, and he walked away very well pleased with himself."—Philadelphia Record.

Nerves and Hair Picking.

"Persons whose nerves are in any way out of gear should not pick hair," observed a well known specialist in nervous diseases to a reporter, "and indeed I am almost willing to go further and to say that they should not handle mattresses or pillows stuffed with hair. The tactile nerves, the nerves that are located in the ends of the fingers, seem to be specially affected by handling of hair or animal wools of any kind."

"Many good housewives do themselves great injury in picking hair in the repair or alteration of mattresses, and, while they think they will save money by doing such work themselves, they often find out that, besides the personal suffering in consequence, they pay out many times in doctors' and medicine bills what they save from mattress makers."

"I know of some persons, men more frequently than women, however, who would be thrown into nervous spasms if they were compelled to handle velvet for 15 minutes—that is, to handle it on the fuzzy or velvety side. Those who are unpleasantly affected by velvet know it and therefore avoid it as much as possible."—Washington Star.

Anecdotes of Colonel Ege.

Colonel Ege was a famous character in the early days. Although living in Doniphan county, he was often in Atchison, followed by a pack of hounds. He was a high toned southern gentleman, with a kind heart.

One day while returning home from this city he came across a man whose wagon was stuck in the mud in Independence creek bottom. Colonel Ege at once started in to help the man pry out his wagon with a fence rail. While both were working away Ege became angry and yelled to the man, "Lift, you son of a gun; you are not lifting a pound." The man picked up the end gate of the wagon and split it over Ege's head, laying him up for three weeks. Ege had his hat off when he was struck and was so bald before coming to Kansas that he was known as the Bald Eagle of Maryland.

Ege always carried a pistol and was always trying to shoot through somebody's hat without hitting him. One day, at the Independence creek ferry, he shot at a man, but aimed a little low and creased him. But Ege was always a gentleman; he took the man into his home and tenderly cared for him until he recovered.—Atchison Globe.

A Life and Death Fight.

Mr. W. A. Hines of Manchester, Ia., writing of his almost miraculous escape from death, says: "Exposure after measles induced serious lung trouble, which ended in consumption. I had frequent hemorrhages and coughed night and day. All my doctors said I must soon die. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which completely cured me. I would not be without it even if it cost $5.00 a bottle. Hundreds have used it on my recommendation and all say it never fails to cure Throat, Chest and Lung troubles." Regular size 50c, and $1.00. Trial bottles free at W. A. D'Alemberte's drug store.

Iron and Steel Markets.

PITTSBURG, April 18.—Local iron and steel manufacturers deprecate the report circulated east and west of a big decline in prices of iron and steel products. These reports, they say, may have an effect on the market, but as prices are regulated by the supply and demand, there can be no serious reduction. The Carnegie Steel company quoted steel plates at $1.90 and the possibility is that $1.70 will be the price within the month.

Present to Deweys.

PITTSBURG, April 18.—Admiral George Dewey and his wife have been tendered magnificent portraits in oil of themselves by President Charles M. Schwab of the Carnegie company and M. Chastain, the famous French painter, has been commissioned by Mr. Schwab to do the work.

Mrs. Bere Married.

NEW YORK, April 18.—The newspapers announce the marriage in this city yesterday of Mrs. Bernard Bere, the actress, to C. W. Oliver, a former private secretary of Lord Lansdale.

To accommodate those who are partial to the use of atomizers in applying liquids into the nasal passages for catarrhal troubles, the proprietors prepare Ely's Liquid Cream Balm. Price including the spraying tube is 75 cents. Druggists or by mail. The liquid embodies the medicinal properties of the solid preparation. Cream Balm is quickly absorbed by the membrane and does not dry up the secretions but changes them to a natural and healthy character. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N. Y.
